

FIFTH AND EIGHTH ARMIES HURL WEIGHT AT GERMANS GUSTAV DEFENSES IN ITALY

The War Today...

By DeWitt MacKenzie
AP War Analyst

THE HITLERITES are doing some frenzied guessing when they say that the powerful Allied offensive in Italy is the opening of D-day, but one wouldn't dispute the somewhat more cautious prognostication over the German-controlled Paris radio that "the gong has sounded for the curtain to rise" in fact it has not already risen.

In short, Paris radio thinks that the Italian upheaval is intimately related to the invasion of western Europe—and that's a logical conclusion. Only yesterday this column pointed out that "Allied bombing and other preparations for D-day are slipping rapidly towards their peak" and expressed the view that there would be action on all fronts, including Italy where "there are signs of Allied operations to support D-day."

However, while I think we may expect coordinated Allied operations in all European theatres in support of the great amphibious invasion of France, yet that doesn't necessarily mean that all theatres will come into action at the same time. The various blows—on the Russian front, in Italy and at numerous points in western Europe, might be inaugurated at different times.

Thus while all the indication are that the big Allied drive against the Gustav line is calculated to support the invasion of France, its beginning doesn't also factually mean that D-day actually has arrived. We shall avoid frayed nerves if we take things in stride and let actual developments speak for themselves.

As I pointed out yesterday, the Germans undoubtedly have been expecting the offensive in Italy. This presumably accounted for their withdrawal earlier this week in the Salerno sector to straighten their line, so to make it more easily defensible.

The attack by the American and British armies is described as the most powerful Allied assault yet

Men In 30-37 Age Group Are Awarded Draft Stays

Holds Vital Job

Capt. George W. Bunn

AN EIGHTH AAF BOMBER STATION—Briefing combat crews before they take off to bomb key targets in enemy territory and interrogating the flyers upon their return are two duties of Capt. George W. Bunn of Salem, Ohio, who is the assistant intelligence officer at this Eighth Air Force Flying Fortress base.

Capt. Bunn not only participates in the briefing and interrogation, but he also carries on highly specialized work. He is charged with instruction of combat crews in the vital subject of route and target identification on assigned missions.

The Salem officer has briefed combat crews at this station for such important missions as the attacks on targets at Berlin, Frankfurt, Emden and Bremen, Germany. On overseas duty for more than eight months, he has seen the Flying Fortresses of his group thunder out on more than 80 attacks, and return victorious.

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, May 12.—The paunch-growing citizen of age 30 through 37 who is in essential work got an indefinite stay from military duty today as the biggest overhaul yet of draft deferment policy went into effect.

In a major effort to give registrants an idea where they stand for some months ahead and to restore the morale of many draft boards which have threatened to resign, national Selective Service has:

1. Ordered deferment "for an indefinite period" of 30-and-over men in essential industries, whether or not their job requires special skill and experience. Previously only "necessary" men were eligible.
2. Assured men from 26 through 29 who are necessary employees that they will not be drafted "for the time being."
3. Directed local boards to review immediately the cases of men in those two classes who are now in 1-A and to place them in 2-A or 2-B deferred status.
4. Opened up the list of 35 "essential" industries by providing that a local board may grant deferments in additional fields if it decides an activity is "in support of the national health, safety or interest."

Rule May Hold Six Months
Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey said he hoped the policy would stand for six months. He did not go so far as to predict that the 30-37 group might never be drafted, as some officials have done privately. He did say they might remain civilians for longer than six months, however.

Hershey told a press conference yesterday that any local board decision contrary to the new policy should be appealed. Boards may simply ignore their draft quotas, he said.

Lighter Ohio Draft Calls For Future Predicted By Wahl

(By Associated Press)
CLEVELAND, May 12.—Draft calls in Ohio for the foreseeable future will be much lighter than they have been, Lieut. Col. Carl G. Wahl, chief of the manpower section of state Selective Service headquarters, disclosed.

Calls for the immediate future will be levied only on boards who have registrants under 26 available. Col. Wahl told the chairman of Cuyahoga county draft boards at a meeting last night.

Some boards will receive only "token calls" to cover any volunteers they may have, the Selective Service official said. He added that Col. C. W. Goble, state Selective Service director, probably would issue an order in a few days that no man over 25 years of age shall be inducted in Ohio except after clearance of his individual case with Ohio draft headquarters.

Under this setup, Col. Wahl explained, war industry should employ any man 26 and over, even those who now may be in 1-A, and be assured that the man will be placed in a deferred classification.

"The new regulations mean, to state it plainly and bluntly, that the army doesn't want a man 26 or over unless you've got to get the guy out of your neighborhood because he is a morale problem," said Capt. John B. Clark, classification expert at state Selective Service headquarters.

Col. Wahl disclosed that only 1,100 Ohio men up to 26 had been granted special deferment when the last tabulation was made as of May 1.

Reading Habits Change With War, Library Survey Shows

The war, which has brought many changes into everyday living, also is responsible for a change in reading habits, according to records kept at the Salem public library and comparison of book sales.

Much "escapist" reading matter is sought, but even more desired is the better type of material because those who find little free time in their busy days want to use that time to the best advantage.

People who never before enjoyed books are finding them a source of entertainment, education and relaxation. Miss Alice Gladden, public librarian says. Books about the world's events, about the people in the countries where Americans are fighting or are likely to fight, are extremely popular, as are all travel, non-fiction, biography and technical texts.

Shop men who have never had occasion or opportunity to study are learning the advantages of modern technical textbooks which are helping them in their war jobs and will advance them in their work in peacetime.

Entire families have become readers since the war has curtailed their patronage of other forms of entertainment and relaxation. Books on group games, puzzles, hobbies and activities are eagerly sought to entertain families at home.

Libraries generally report increased circulation during the last year, despite the fact that many of their men readers are now in military camps and overseas. Servicemen on leave or convalescing are turning to books and other reading material to advance their education and for relaxation.

D-DAY AT HAND, GERMANS CLAIM

Hint of Counter-Invasion Of Britain As Rommel Defense Plan

(By Associated Press)
LONDON, May 12.—Nazi controlled radios, apparently surprised by the Allied Italian offensive, declared today that the "D-day" of the Allied invasion had come—and hinted strongly that a counter-invasion of Britain might be Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's defense.

"The going has already sounded for the curtain to rise—if in fact it has not already risen," Jean Paquis said over the Paris radio as France waited tensely and her conquerors of four years ago braced for blows of the onslaught from the outside and an uprising from within.

Axis press reports reaching Britain—where the jar of explosions from the French invasion coast last night was felt as far inland as London—said a picked German attack force spearheaded by paratroops would strike at England the moment the Allied invasion began.

These accounts inscribed that Rommel, who was described in a Berlin dispatch to La Suisse at Geneva as "Hitler's commander-in-chief in western Europe from the Tulip fields of the low countries to the Mediterranean," could be counted on to defend by attacking.

Most London observers took this with a grain of salt—believing it more likely that the Nazi press was putting on dispatches of its own confidence.

City Hospital Approved For Cadet Nurses

The Salem City Hospital School of Nursing has been approved by the federal government as a Cadet Nurse Corps school, according to an announcement today by Miss Esther Wilson, hospital superintendent.

Enlistment of cadets already has been started at the hospital for classes which will begin training in June and the rolls now number 13.

Throughout the state of Ohio 60 schools of nursing have been approved by the U. S. Public Health service as acceptable for the Cadet Nurse program and more than 90 per cent of the students of the schools are enrolled as cadets.

The Salem City Hospital School of Nursing has long since been accredited by the state of Ohio as a training center for the education of nurses. Recently the nurses home has been enlarged to house 10 additional students to conform with a government request to increase housing and educational equipment to double the number of students enrolled. A science laboratory is being added with complete new apparatus, and a new recreation and assembly room is being built and equipped.

Existing library quarters are doubled in size and all volumes are to be catalogued. A well equipped nursing arts laboratory is available for demonstration work and a theory classroom ample in size already in use for lectures and classes. A dietetics laboratory, complete with a few well equipped tables and chairs, is active.

Flower beds, lawns, flower beds and vegetable garden provide beauty in the environment and essential food for patients and personnel of the hospital.

178 Persons On Relief In County Last Month

LISBON, May 12.—An April relief load of 93 cases for 178 persons cost the county $1,127.87 last month, relief records show. The May load of 81 cases is considerably lower with only 149 persons receiving aid.

Washington township, with 29 indigents, had the largest load while six townships, Butler, Elkrum, Knox, Perry, Wayne and West, reported no one on relief.

Reporter Describes Devastating Attack In Italian Front Today

(By SID FEDER)
AT A FIFTH ARMY OUTPOST, Italy, May 11.—(Delayed)—American artillery literally changed the face of nature tonight in one of the most fearful displays of man-made thunder in military history and then the doughboys dashed in to attack German positions smashed by the big guns.

So devastating was the artillery bombardment that one particular sector received 3,000 pounds of large caliber shells in one hour and so completely did the barrage cover the area that not one German replied with a single round during that period.

The American infantrymen had been so steamed up for this major campaign that all units reached their objectives on schedule despite the task of overcoming enemy-held strongpoints in the mountains and high ground.

The doughboys moved in under

HERBIE KAY, BAND LEADER, SUCCUMBS

DALLAS, May 12.—Funeral rites will be held here Saturday morning for Herbie Kay, 40, nationally known band leader, who died in a Dallas hospital last night after an illness of several months.

Kay's widow, the former Betty Denning of Dallas, and his mother, Mrs. Katherine Kay of Manteno, Ill., survive.

The former husband of Film Actress Dorothy Lamour, Kay was credited with her discovery. She once sang with his band.

Planes, Naval Guns Support Ground Forces

(By Associated Press)
ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Naples, May 12.—The Fifth and Eighth armies have launched the greatest drive in Mediterranean warfare in the jump-off of Allied spring offensives, and have smashed wedges in the Gustav line in Italy, advancing more than a mile at one point, front dispatches said at noon today.

The big push along a 25-mile front from Cassino to the sea crunched forward at 11 p. m. last night under a record, shattering artillery barrage, and shock troops won initial objectives at a number of points. Hundreds of planes, and big naval guns supported the offensive.

Elsewhere the Germans were resisting fiercely, still blocking the way. At one unspecified point, the Allies had thrust ahead 2,000 yards in gaining their first goals.

Attacking on the Cassino sector, Eighth army men crossed the Rapido and Gari rivers and pushed on, a dispatch said, and airmen reported the attack to the right of the Rapido appeared to be going ahead. The Germans loosed flooding waters from the Rapido reservoir system.

"We can and will destroy the German armies," Lt.-Gen. Mark W. Clark asserted in a battle-eve order of the day to his Fifth army troops, principally Americans. "You have placed the enemy in his present distressing position of trying hopelessly to hold back allied forces, which he knows will eventually overrun him from two directions."

The land gains were wedges driven into the German defenses, but these were merely part of a general program of ripping away the lines of the powerful German mountain positions.

5th Army Secretly Regroups
Allied air power in incessant pounding of Nazi communications has kept all north-south rail lines in Italy severed since March 24, and the land attack came as the world awaited a cross-channel invasion.

French troops went into action first, making a surprise thrust 15 minutes before the artillery opened up all across the peninsula, and especially in the Garigliano and Cassino sectors where the Fifth and Eighth armies attacked.

Other troops attacked simultaneously with the start of the barrage. Initial objectives included high areas of strategic importance, and operations including scaling steep hills.

Secretly regrouped, Lt.-Gen. Clark's Fifth army struck on the westward flank running in from the Tyrrhenian sea, and the British Eighth army, transferred from the Adriatic, plunged forward in the

Jaycees Will Open Center For Salem Youths July 1

Embodiment in their plans for a Salem Youth Center a large dance floor, a "cock bar," a game room and a lounge, the Junior Chamber of Commerce last night completed definite arrangements for the opening of the recreational center, in the Arbaugh building for students of High school age on or about July 1.

Plans call for remodeling and furnishing five rooms in the now-vacant east section of the Arbaugh building on E. State st. The Chamber expects to raise $3,000 for the necessary equipment and work to be done and the opening is slated for July 1 if the work can be completed by that time.

The center, which was endorsed by the High School Parent-Teacher association earlier in the year, will be open to all students of High school age and will function throughout the summer vacation period and during the weekends in school months. Membership will be allowed to everyone at a small cost and music, games and refreshments will be available.

Jack Patterson, recently appointed chairman of the Chamber's steering committee for the project, has named committees to precede with the arrangements at once and barring any war-time restrictions on progress he believes the center will be ready for use by July 1.

Chairmen of the committees are: Finance, William Wagoner and Dick Dennis; procurement, Elwood Hammett; building, Patterson; publicity and membership, Herbert Brown and Don Beattie.

A solicitation for funds to finance the project will get underway at once and work has already begun on the remodeling arrangements for

Life Magazine Carries Pfc. Scullion's Photo

A graphic full-page photograph of Pfc. Robert Scullion, wounded recently in Italy, appears in the current issue of Life magazine. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Scullion of S. Lincoln ave., the Salem youth is pictured holding the Purple Heart medal awarded him for his wounds, suffered when a shell fragment exploded outside the hospital tent in which he was housed with other patients.

The caption accompanying the picture says, "There is no safe place on the Anzio beachhead. Even the sick and wounded are within reach range of the German guns." Pfc. Scullion holds the medal for a right arm wound received in the beachhead hospital where he had been sent for stomach trouble. He was not hit until a shell exploded just outside his ward. The mesh of holes in the background of the picture shows how the tent was sprayed by shell fragments.

PARADE MUSIC

Members of the High school band should not take too seriously the attack by a Salem mother on their band director because of the tempo of Memorial day parade music. There can be no question about her sincerity, but there is a slight possibility that the director knows the difference between a football game and a parade. On many occasions he has amply demonstrated that he knows how to direct a band and he has done a marvelous job in building the High school band with the time and equipment allotted to him.

Quaker City band played for Memorial day parades in Salem as long as it was active. It, too, played music that was difficult for youngsters to march to, but no one should expect children of such age to keep pace in a parade.

It might be well, also, to keep in mind that the band donates its services on such occasion. It's usually a hot, arduous task for the band members. If their director, who has done so much to develop band music in the school and in whom they have the utmost confidence, is publicly attacked, they might forget to turn out for Memorial day parades.

SERVICE WITHOUT GLAMOUR

When the story of civilian war services is compiled, the records of the nurses' aids will have a place of honor.

These girls and women have averted a breakdown in civilian hospital operation which safeguards the health of war workers and the rest of the people on the home front. With most of the graduate nurses enlisted in the armed services, hospitals at home would have been hopelessly understaffed but for these volunteers.

They perform routine services, they receive no pay except the satisfaction that they are filling a vital place on the important home front. Their loyalty and efficiency have won praise from hospital administrators and their cheerful ministrations have won the gratitude of patients.

The hospitals need more of them and there is no place in which civilian womanhood can serve where the work is more urgently needed or where the accomplishments can be demonstrated more clearly.

THE FALL OF SEVASTOPOL

The mighty Russian feat of recapturing Sevastopol in 24 days of blazing action, just one-tenth of the time it required for the Germans and Romanians to take the city in 1942, is one of the major decisive actions of the whole war.

It frees two large Russian armies for action elsewhere on the great eastern front, it opens the Black Sea for operations by the Russian fleet and makes the Romanian coast highly vulnerable and, just as importantly, it blasts another Nazi myth.

Here the "supermen" were dug into a strongly fortified position which they had found so difficult when it was held by the Russians just two years ago but Stalin's determined armies went in and dug them out.

The victory clears the Germans out of all the territory beyond the west coast of the Black Sea. It serves the purpose of materially shortening the Russian line and making greater concentration of fighting power available.

Sevastopol has a long record of wars. Every military leader including Hitler recognized its importance. It won a lasting place in history when England and Russia were enemies in the Crimean war and its ruins, left after two bloody campaigns with all the modern methods of destruction, stand in solemn honor today as the place where Nazism receive a staggering blow which will loom large in history. The smoke rising from Sevastopol's ruins is one of the pillars of world freedom.

SOMETHING UNDER THE BED

Maybe the President was right when he told newsmen that in considering the Montgomery Ward case a lot of people were "seeing things under the bed."

During most of the Roosevelt administration business men have been seeing things, not only under the bed but behind their desks, in their private business files and in their hair. They looked like hobgoblins but they turned out to be members of the New Deal army of administrators, regulators, operators, coordinators and expeditors.

The Chicago action was merely a little more high-handed than most of the others. The generally amiable secretary of commerce acted more hastily than usual and the President's effort at his press conference to justify the action does not sound very convincing.

The vote among Montgomery Ward employees was a clear CIO victory and under the collective bargaining procedure, that organization will represent employees in the Chicago. The same results could have been obtained without all the fuss by the mere expedient of holding the election at some earlier date.

Nobody has gained anything by this high-handed procedure, the climax of government interference with the private operation of business excepting that the public was treated to one of the most unusual news pictures of the year as most of the papers printed the picture of Chairman Sewell Avery being toted out of his office by a couple of husky soldiers.

THE STARS SAY:

For Saturday, May 13

A particularly unique or exceptional turn of affairs, probably born of a brilliant idea may make this day an outstanding one in the course of events. Should such intuition or premonition be followed to its inspired conclusion there should be no limit to the success, happiness or public token of appreciation in sight. While the urge to innovation or stepping out into fresh pastures may seem radical and promise gratifying culminations, unless there be stability, good sense and practical ways and means of carrying such programs out, there may be disagreeable conflicts or opposition intended to thwart or dissuade. Be prudent, firm and adhere to such revelation or singular prompting. Be wise in personal contacts.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year of the unique, spectacular or mystifying, in which extraordinary inspirations, leads or intuitions may trend into untrodden adventures and experiences. Should these be from truly inspired sources, and backed up by wisdom, prudence and practical ways and means of accomplishment, there may be surprising denouement, giving gratification as well as some measure of public approbation or rewards from those in influential positions. In domestic, social and affectional relations be especially discreet and practical.

A child born on this day may be endowed with exceptional creative talents, with strange faculties or emotional urges, expressed in poetry, music, art, drama, or other unique professions.

By HENRY C. CASSIDY

KALININ, Russia, May 11.—I have had a glimpse of the future of post-war Russia.

It is a scene of smart young men with military bearing and elegant manners in a city which was devastated by war but which already has returned to something like normal life. Kalinin is now working to make itself bigger and better than ever.

The glimpse into the future was seen with other correspondents on a visit to Kalinin, one of the great battlegrounds of this war. It is a "test tube" city of Russian reconstruction.

The Suvorov military school here is one of the newest institutions building the future of Russian society. It is one of nine established by the Soviet government as part of a general plan for recovery from the war. It opened Dec. 1 with 510 pupils selected from 14,000 applicants. The selection committee gave preference to sons of generals, lesser officers, partisans, civilians and officials killed during the war.

The boys live and work in a spotless schoolhouse which once was a theological seminary and which now is decorated with fierce portraits of ancient Russian warrior heroes and modern Soviet slogans.

Studies are the same as those of other grammar schools except that those in Suvorov receive higher mathematics and cover general ground more quickly. They have only one month of summer vacation instead of three as provided in ordinary schools. They also are taught singing, dancing and elementary military drill. They study either English or German.

The boys study here until they are 17 and then either go to a higher military school, or return to civilian life.

The Suvorov schoolhouse was wrecked in the battle of Kalinin and restored complete in 45 days. The rest of Kalinin, one of the first large cities recaptured, has made a similarly swift recovery.

I saw Kalinin in 1942 soon after its recapture. The city then was a desolate expanse of shattered buildings and empty streets. Now it presents a neat, solid facade broken only here and there by the ruins of un-restored buildings.

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

Many Causes of Backache

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
THE BACK is the crossroads of our organism where the body and the mind and the soul meet. They often get into argument and in having it out all hell breaks loose.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

Or, to put it another way, a backache consists of one, the causes of the backache, and two, the person who has the backache. The cure and outcome of the case depends more on the second element than the first. The back is the burden bearer. When the burdens of the soul set too heavy the back protests. A spineless person often has a backache.

The question — "What is good for a sore back?" — indicates a profound naivete on the part of the layman. It would take any doctor an hour to complete an examination which would allow even of a guess as to the cause of backache. Very few physicians make such an examination. Partly they lack the information, but mostly they lack the patience. There is hardly any field of medicine where the patients are more neglected. Every town should have a "misery" clinic.

Causes Numerous

Backache is in medicine the elephant examined by the blind man. Each blind man felt a separate part. Each one's conclusions as to what the elephant was really like were limited. Your backache is due to: (1) posture—says the orthopedist; (2) the uterus—says the gynecologist; (3) the kidneys—says the urologist; (4) rupture of an intervertebral disk—says the surgeon; (5) focal infection—says the internist; (6) gold-bricking—says the top sergeant; (7) high heels—says the shoe salesman; (8) the cobble; (9) wearing shoes; (10) the Nature fading; (11) going barefooted—says Miss Nancy; (12) "Something you tried to lift no doubt"—says the husband; (13) "Sitting around on them hard chairs in a draft at Grogan's, no doubt"—says the waiter; (14) railway spine—says the lawyer.

OUR READERS

FACES RENT PROBLEM

Editor, The News:
For some time I have had a doubt in my mind about property owners who have homes to rent. My doubt? Were they ever children or have they always been a bunch of grown up machines? If so, then maybe I understand the situation more clearly. Here is my problem.

For several months I have been looking for a house to rent. Sounds simple doesn't it, but have you ever tried it? Yes, it's true I have found several homes—but I forgot to mention a very small item. It happens that I have two children—sad but true, under existing circumstances. It seems I made a mistake—I should have a couple of dogs or cats.

Now there's one of several things I could do: 1. Exchange my children for pets; 2. Take them out on a country road and desert them (that's what they do to stray dogs and cats); 3. Or maybe chloroform them and get rid of the bodies.

Does that sound cruel? But one has to live, and according to persons who have homes to rent, that is about all that one can do. It does seem a "dirty" shame, and if I were not a lady, I could use much stronger language.

Statistics tell us this country needs more children but when landlords refuse to rent homes to people with children what are we supposed to do?

A SALEM MOTHER

Answers: The tubules of the kidneys would stretch a long ways if laid end to end. I have heard various estimates. What difference does it make for any particular kind of medicine?

C. D.—My boy is 10 years old, 5 feet tall and weighs 72 pounds. What is normal for that age?

Answer: Ninety pounds.

'G. I.' BONUS DRIVE GAINS MOMENTUM

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, May 12.—A soldier bonus drive gained momentum on Capitol Hill today as the House moved into the second round of debate on the "G. I. Bill of Rights," a broad measure providing for job help, unemployment compensation, hospitalization and education for war veterans.
Backing the separate bonus proposal—which would give veterans a maximum cash loan of $7,500—was Rep. Lemke (D-ND), who announced plans to organize a committee of house members from 48 states to propel the campaign.
His decision to seek quick action, Lemke said in an interview, followed discussions with the veterans and business men, "all of whom are convinced," he said, "that the only way to prevent another depression after this war is to put the returning service men on their feet and keep them getting reestablished in our civilian economy."
Lemke's proposal calls for issuance of paid-up government life insurance based on length and character of service. A veteran who served prior to Pearl Harbor would receive a policy with the face amount determined at the rate of $100 for each month of service. Domestic service after Pearl Harbor would entitle them to $150 a month, and foreign service $300 a month insurance.
Then, to enable veterans to obtain cash to go into business, loans would be available to the extent of 75 per cent of the face value of the policy, with a maximum of $7,500 and a minimum of $2,500, repayable in 30 years at low interest rates.
Lemke's decision to handle his proposal as a separate bill rather than to attempt to include it as a "rider" on the G. I. bill virtually ended the prospect of a bonus fight developing over the latter measure.

Enemy's Air Losses In Europe To Date Listed

LONDON, May 12.—About 28,000 German and Italian planes have been shot down in air combat since the beginning of the war by Allied air forces, not counting those destroyed on the Russian front, Sir Archibald Sinclair, secretary of state for air, told commons today.

Londoners Weep

LONDON, May 12.—North Londoners going to work today thought they were encountering an early morning mist but quickly learned from weeping eyes and parched tongues it was a mysteriously posed heavy concentration of tear gas.

The United States sent nearly 23,000 tanks—more than 21,000 of them under Lend-Lease—to its Allies in approximately 34 months, according to the Foreign Economic Administration.

EXPECT NO CHANGE IN BALLOT TOTALS

The official canvass of Columbiana county returns from Tuesday's state, district and county primary election which was expected to be completed tonight shows no material changes in results, the board of elections said today.

The board certified approval of two school district tax levies, Wayne rural school district sanction of a two-year three-mill levy for building improvements, 43 to 17, while the East Liverpool city district approved a two-year one-mill levy for completion of a partially constructed Memorial High school auditorium-gymnasium, 2-719 to 1,512.

No recounts loomed despite an 18-vote margin between Arthur Blake, of Martins Ferry, a steelworker and dairyman, and Dr. Joseph T. Williamson, East Liverpool dentist, for the Democratic nomination for state auditor in the 20th-22nd senatorial district which embraces Columbiana, Jefferson, Belmont and Harrison counties. The unofficial district count gave Blake 5,496, Williamson 5,478.

Election officials will ask payment of the required filing fee before certifying two write-in nominations. Atty. W. Edmund Peters of Salem was named Democratic nominee for Columbiana county probate judge, and Ernest R. Sturges of East Liverpool, a former mortician, was chosen Republican nominee for coroner.
A third entry in the probate judge contest which will be a non-partisan ballot in the Nov. 7 election was hinted today. Friends said Lieut. Paul Strader, a former Salem attorney who is in army service in California, may petition for a ballot place.

WARREN MAN WINS SILVER STAR MEDAL

WASHINGTON, May 12.—The War department announced today award of the Silver Star medal to Tech. Sgt. Thomas Urmon, 310 High st., Warren, member of the U. S. Army Eighth air force.
"While serving as top turret gunner of a B-17 on a bombing mission over Germany, Jan. 29, 1944, and after leaving the target area, his aircraft was subjected to savage attacks by hostile fighters. During the running battle which ensued, he was wounded and rendered unconscious by an exploding cannon shell.
"When he revived, in spite of his painful wounds, he returned to his turret and continued to fight off repeated attacks. He destroyed one enemy aircraft and was instrumental in diverting several others due to the accuracy of his fire. It was not until the attacks ceased an hour and a half later that he left his turret to receive first aid treatment.
"The gallantry, skill and devotion to duty displayed by him were an inspiration to his comrades and reflect highest credit upon himself and the armed forces of the United States," the citation reads.

These little bathtubs with wings have made such a remarkable record spotting enemy artillery and directing our own big guns that they're considered even more valuable than a good man in the pot and pan department of your mess. After all, artillery is the big noise in this back yard brawl.

Naturally, it's quite the thing to take a ride in one of these cubs to get the best look at the curved battle lines spread out like half of a giant apple pie. All kinds of funny things like that happen to the Doodle Bugs. There was the time Lt. Charles Kessmer, of Newark, O., was up spotting and all of a sudden there were four ME's over him and four under him. He just kept flying low, skittered up and down a ravine, and got home.

"But that was some time ago," Bradley recalls. "Here lately the ME's have found they can't keep up with us and have just about quit. Now our headache is ack ack."

CORP. SWEARINGEN, ALLIANCE, KILLED

ALLIANCE, May 12.—Corp. Russell H. Swearingen, Jr., 27, of 504 S. Arch st., former welder and expeditor for the Babcock-Wilcox Co., was killed in an auto accident yesterday at Camp Greeley, Greeley, Colo., where he was stationed.

Details of the accident were not learned.

His wife, Betty Kibler Swearingen of S. Arch ave. and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Swearingen, Sr., of Alliance were notified by camp authorities.

Born in Alliance, he spent practically all his life here except for a few years when he lived in Massillon. A member of the Hanoverton Presbyterian church, he belonged to Sandy Valley lodge No. 408, F. & A. M., Alliance chapter No. 63, R. & S. M., and Alliance council No. 112, R. & S. M.

Corp. Swearingen graduated from Massillon High school in 1934 and entered the service May 19, 1943. He received training at Camp Shelby, Miss., Fort Meade, Md., Ft. Custer, Mich., and at Camp Greeley.

Besides his wife and parents, he leaves his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Swearingen of Hanoverton and Mr. and Mrs. John Redenbough of Alexandria, Ind.

Funeral service will be held at 4:30 p. m. Sunday at the Cassaday and Turkle funeral home here, followed by a service at 2:30 p. m. Monday at the Hanoverton Presbyterian church. Rev. John V. Stephens, Jr., of Alliance and Rev. Harvey L. Rickert, pastor of the Hanoverton church, will be in charge. Burial will be in Grove Hill cemetery at Hanoverton.

Friends may call at the funeral home from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p. m. Sunday.

Agriculture Change In United States Urged By Bricker

(By Associated Press)

DES MOINES, May 12.—Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio, candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, proposes a "complete and sweeping reorganization" of the U. S. Department of Agriculture to effect a constructive farm program.

"The New Deal agricultural program is dominated by the belief that the American farmer doesn't know his own business," Ohio's chief executive said in an address last night. "American agriculture must have a constructive program now and after victory. There is no cure-all, but there are some definite and fundamental requirements."

Bricker, who is making a three-day mid-season campaign swing, suggested this three-point program based on a policy of unrestricted production:

"1. Let us end forever the New Deal philosophy of scarcity, more food, better food and greater varieties of food and farm products are possible through a constructive agricultural program in the years ahead. Government has its place in education, in extension service, in market and crop information, through experimentation and research facilities."

"2. Full production of the things that are needed and the resulting increase in the ability to buy will remove all necessity or excuse for subsidies. This doesn't mean that all governmental financial assistance should be eliminated. Government loans can be justified. They provide production incentive. They can and should be self-liquidating. But even this kind of assistance should be less and less in competition with financial institutions."

"3. The Department of Agriculture must be restored to its intended function of a service agency. There are countless services to be rendered."

"To accomplish these ends, a complete and sweeping reorganization of the agriculture department is imperative."

bloody Cassino sector, 25 miles inland on the curving battlefield, attempting to drive up the Liri valley.

Fifth army men fought into the rugged mountain mass rising from the Garigliano valley, southwest of Cassino, in an effort to clear these heights.

Latest reports indicated no big offensive action had yet been launched on the Anzio beachhead below Rome, some 50 miles west of Cassino.

Planes Lend Support
Hundreds of Allied warplanes blasted the Germans in mammoth sky-support of the ground troops.

The Nazis were reported fighting desperately, throwing a curtain of mortar, artillery and machine-gun fire, and using flame-throwers on at least one Fifth army sector.

The thundering Allied artillery barrage was described as the heaviest yet laid down in this theater, surpassing even the great artillery displays that heralded Gen. Sir Bernard Montgomery's offensives in Africa.

Gen. Sir Harold Alexander directed the attack. Eighth army troops, who had been moved secretly across the Apennines from the Adriatic sector, were attempting to drive through the Liri valley at Cassino. On the Tyrrhenian coastal flank the Fifth army headed northeastward to clear the mountains.

fares and against mortars, machine-guns and minefields.

Directing a big part of the artillery barrage was Lt. Col. Franklin Miller, better known to his men as "Windy" because he is so quiet about what his spectacular can do.

So spectacular was the barrage that Lt. Col. Gauden M. Watkins of San Francisco came over from another location to watch it.

Red and green flares lit the sky for miles around for hours, and silhouetted us, dug in on a hilltop only a few hundred yards from a cemetery from which one outfit jumped off. One colonel insisted on standing to see how his men were doing.

They were doing fine, too. One company led by Capt. Carl Nelson, Pittsburg, Kans., was on one side of the road and another headed by Capt. Albert Carlstone of Chicago was on the other, with Lt. Col. Raymond E. Kendall, Manchester, N. H., in charge of the actual operation.

An hour and a half after "H" hour, both outfits reported back to Maj. Victor Hobson, Birmingham, Ala., that they had taken their first objectives.

It wasn't quite that easy, however, because "F" company ran into trouble with mortar and machine-guns, and had to reorganize before marching on.

Congressman Dies Not To Seek Renomination

BEAUMONT, Tex., May 12.—Representative Martin Dies (D-Tex.) today announced his withdrawal as a candidate for re-election to Congress.

Dies' announcement was made in a telegram sent to the Beaumont Journal.

He said he would not ask renomination because of ill health and a desire to return to private business. Dies, a member of congress for the last 14 years, is chairman of the house committee on un-American activities.

population with the Allies invade.

This report came through European underground channels after French quarters in London announced the Germans had shifted Marshal Petain from Vichy to a chateau 40 miles from Paris.

On the Allied side, meanwhile, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, supreme commander of invasion forces, revealed that the G-5 (civil affairs) section of his command was set to march into Germany with the conquering troops and rule the Reich with a military iron hand as well as operate temporarily in the countries presently German-occupied.

In Moscow Soviet Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov declared the Germans soon would feel the "mortal blows" of the Russians from the east and the Atlantic allies from the west.

U. S. Invasion Army Is Best Equipped In World History

BY DON WHITEHEAD

LONDON, May 12.—The troops which America will send into the invasion of Europe from "the best equipped army that ever existed," according to Brig. Gen. Henry Benton Saylor, Gen. Eisenhower's chief ordnance officer.

"We're all set," said Saylor, whose responsibility it has been to build up the vast stocks of guns, tanks, ammunition, trucks and spare parts for the smash across the channel.

"We've got more tools of war, gear and spare parts than any armed force ever had before."

The vast supplies are stored in warehouses, in bomb-scarred buildings, in great piles along England's winding roads.

"We hope and believe that we have over-estimated our needs," said Saylor, whose home is in Washington, D. C. "But the people at home should know that, if we have under-estimated those needs, then our reserves will be wiped out here and the real reserve will be on the production line at home."

The 50-year-old one-star general has been working in the background for months preparing for the European invasion. His name isn't widely known at home, but his responsibility in the great invasion will be tremendous.

Saylor, a native of Huntington, Ind., was a graduate in West Point's class of 1915 which produced Gen. Eisenhower, Lieut. Gen. Omar Bradley and Lieut. Gen. Joseph M. Nafney. He was an artilleryman in the first World War but has been in ordnance since 1921.

He helped mount the North African invasion.

"We are much better prepared than we were then," the general said. "We went in 'cold' then but now we have teamwork and we are able to do our work with a surprisingly small number of men because each man knows his job."

One of the most important of Saylor's responsibilities is an organization which can supply, maintain and repair ordnance in the field—particularly in combat areas.

Flier Is Missing

DEATHS

ELLA BAUMAN

Mrs. Ella Bauman, 80, of R. D. 2, Beloit, died Thursday morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Jesse Mercer, Alliance-Harrisburg road, Alliance, R. D. 1, after an illness of three years. She had been at the Mercer home three weeks.

Born in North Georgetown, Mrs. Bauman had spent her entire life in this vicinity. She was a member of the Lutheran church at North Georgetown.

Surviving are her daughter and two sons, Samuel of Alliance and David of R. D. 2, Beloit. 11 grandchildren and 13 great-grandchildren. Funeral service will be held at 2:30 p. m. Sunday at the Cassady and Turkle funeral home in Alliance in charge of Rev. Charles H. Frank pastor of the Lutheran church at Sebring and North Georgetown.

Friends may call from 7 to 9 p. m. Saturday at the funeral home. Interment will be made in North Georgetown.

JOHN EMMETT MOORE

John Emmett Moore, 59, of near Winona, died at 12:05 a. m. today at his home of complications following a year's illness.

Born on the farm south of Salem Sept. 25, 1884, the son of John C. and Williamina Randels Moore, he lived there until his marriage to Florence S. Hoopes Dec. 24, 1907. Since that time he had resided on the farm where he died. For four years prior to November, 1943, he operated a farm implement business at Damascus.

Mr. Moore was a member of the Winona Methodist church. A sister, Mrs. Florence Halverson of Alliance, preceded him in death.

Surviving are his wife, Florence; a daughter, Mrs. Cecil Bennett of Winona; his mother, Mrs. Williamina Moore of Salem; three sisters, Mrs. C. C. Weaver of Lakewood, Mrs. J. H. Clement of Independence, Kan., and Mrs. W. W. Brown of Salem.

Funeral service will be held at 2:30 p. m. Monday at the Arbuthnot-Pearce funeral home in charge of Rev. J. D. Klein of Winona. Burial will be in Grandview cemetery here.

Friends may call at the home near Winona Sunday afternoon and evening.

MRS. LOWRIE FUNERAL

Funeral service for Mrs. Pannier R. Lowrie, 70, of 243 S. Ellsworth ave., who died yesterday at the Lisbon Nursing home, will be held at 2 p. m. Saturday in Princeton, Pa., near New Castle. Burial will be made there.

Friends may call at the Stark Memorial here from 7 to 9 tonight. Born at New Castle, Pa., March 18, 1874, she was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stevenson. Mrs. Lowrie had spent many years in Salem.

Surviving are a son, Harold, of the home; four brothers, Irvin, John and Armstrong Stevenson of New Castle, and Perry of California.

MRS. BETTY McFADDEN

Mrs. Betty McFadden of R. D. 1, Enon Valley, died at 9:13 p. m. yesterday in Salem City hospital. She entered the hospital four days ago for surgical treatment.

The War Today

made in the Mediterranean theatre. That isn't surprising, since there have been indications for a considerable time that the Allies were getting set there for something big. It wouldn't be strange, by the way, to see the Anzio beachhead boil up shortly.

THIS NEW OFFENSIVE will serve a double purpose. It's calculated (1) to keep Hitler from removing troops from Italy to the invasion areas of western Europe, and perhaps even compel him to rush reinforcements to Italy, and (2) to finish up the uncompleted job of clearing the Italian peninsula of the enemy up to Rome.

Meantime the American and British bombing of the French invasion on coast has reached an unprecedented and terrifying pitch. The jar from detonating Allied bombs last night was felt by Britain as far inland as London.

The Russians have been rushing preparations to undertake new vast offensives, and have been signaling that they are about ready to strike. Here again the Red offensives won't necessarily synchronize exactly with the D-day invasion. They may come before the western assault or a bit after it starts. However, we can be sure that both sides of the European continent soon will be blazing together, thus putting Hitler under terrific pressure from all directions—a position impossible for him to defend indefinitely.

Bodies of Three Boys Who Drowned Recovered

WARREN, May 12.—The body of Albert Johnson, 17, of Cullman, Ala., was recovered today from Mosquito reservoir, the third of three teenage fishermen who drowned when their outboard motor boat overturned May 10.

His body was found about a half mile from shore, five miles north of the Mosquito creek dam, and near the place where the bodies of his two companions were recovered yesterday.

The other victims were Jack Tarr, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Tarr, and Donald Hudson, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Hudson, of nearby West Mecca.

Veteran Educator Quits

PIQUA, May 12.—George C. Dietrich, for 35 years superintendent of schools here, has resigned effective Aug. 1. Dietrich, for 50 years a teacher in the schools of Ohio, is one of the oldest school superintendents in the state.

Bong, Pacific Ace, Back In U. S.

Maj. Richard I. Bong, 23, who has shot down more Jap planes than any other U. S. Army flier, has arrived in the U. S. Shown in Washington with Gen. H. H. Arnold, chief of the U. S. Army Air Forces. Bong told newsmen that he was one of the worst shots in the air forces. He has accounted for 35 Jap planes in combat, having shot down 27 and eight more probably destroyed while flying on 190 missions and 400 hours of air fighting. (International)

National Selective Service Headquarters Supplies Answers To Some Draft Queries

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 12.—Here are answers to some of the questions that still may bother draft registrants 26 and over:

Q. Is every local draft board bound to follow the new policies announced yesterday?

A. National headquarters believes that the boards, by and large, will attempt to carry out the principles laid down.

Q. Does this mean that no men 30 and over in essential industries will be drafted until further notice?

A. As a general thing, yes. But a local board may decide that an elevator operator in a war plant, for instance, is doing work for which women are available. If the board decides this man is not contributing all he could to the war effort, it can refuse him a deferment.

Q. Then a board can draft men over 30 even if it still has not inducted all its men under 26?

A. Yes, but this would be the exceptional case, not the rule.

Q. Isn't it true, however, that many men over 30 doing useful work in essential industries were drafted and are being drafted now in spite of the "stay" ordered on April 8?

A. The new directive is intended to correct that.

Q. What shall a board do if it runs out of men under 26, exhausts its 26-29 group of non-essential men, and has no 30-38 men in non-essential industries from which to draw?

A. The board should let the call ride; that is, fail to deliver its quota for that month.

Q. What should an essential employer do if a deferment for an over-30 employee is turned down?

A. Selective Service Director Hershey advises that an appeal be filed.

Q. In some cases which have developed in recent weeks, the appeal period has expired.

A. You can appeal whenever there is a new fact to be considered. These regulations are a new fact.

Q. What if a man is already accepted—that is, has passed his physical examination—but has not yet been inducted.

A. He is in no less favorable position. Selective Service has directed that these cases be re-opened immediately.

Q. There is always a time lag between the forming of policies and placing them in effect. Will some men be caught?

A. There will be some injustices and discrimination, inevitably.

Q. Local boards have been directed to review the cases of all men in the 26-29 and 30-37 groups who have been classed 1-A, and to defer those who meet the new requirements. Will this reclassification be automatic, or should the employer file a deferment application?

A. To make sure, the employer should file at once for every man he wants deferred who is over 30 and who has been class 1-A.

Q. What should the registrant himself do?

A. The 30-or-over registrant should make sure that his local board is aware of his status. If he is in 1-A, and in essential work, he should notify his board he should be in 2-A or 2-B.

Q. Local boards are now authorized to grant deferments in industries not mentioned on the official War Manpower list of essential activities. Could a board defer a professional ball player?

A. A board has that power, if it decides baseball is an activity "in support of the national health, safety or interest."

Q. Is a board likely to defer a ball player?

A. No. Boards which are sending fathers to war are not likely to let ball players go on playing ball. It is up to board's sense of responsibility.

Q. Could a lawyer get a deferment?

A. This also is up to the board, and might depend on how many lawyers there are in his community.

More Dogs Needed For Duty With Marine Corps

Marine corps dog trainers have issued an appeal for 50 more male dogs, either Doberman Pinschers or German Shepherds, according to word received here by Wade Allen, 420 W. Fifth st., who is chairman of the Salem Dogs for Defense organization.

Marine corps specifications for these two types of dogs are very high, but Allen urges anyone with a dog of these breeds to contact him before giving up the idea of putting their dog into service.

Doberman Pinschers between one and four years of age, over 25 inches at the withers, and at least 65 pounds in weight are wanted. They must be pure bred.

German Shepherds in the same age bracket and at least 65 pounds in weight are desired. Marine corps authorities emphasize that only extremely intelligent, aggressive and fearless dogs can be used.

W.S.C.S. at Winona Will Hold Banquet

WINONA, May 12.—The W.S.C.S. of the Methodist church is planning a Mother-Daughter banquet for 9:30 p. m. May 16 at the church. The speaker will be Mrs. Neil Jones of Tallmadge.

Mrs. Duane Loudon and son, Richard of Sebring, has moved in with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Coppock. Vera Loudon's husband, who is in North Africa, has been promoted to private first class.

Relatives have received word that Erling Hamble has been transferred from the C. P. S. camp in Powellsville, Md., to Smoke Jumpers unit, C. P. S. No. 103, resident, Huson, Montana. Erling is a former Winona resident.

Mrs. Megrail Hostess

The W. C. T. U. met Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Sina Megrail. Mrs. Sina Megrail had the devotions.

Mrs. Wilson Steer read "Who Is Responsible". Mrs. Megrail read "Your Home and Mine". Mrs. Earl Ruble read "Mother".

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Wilson Steer, with Mrs. E. C. Holloway in charge of the program.

Recent Guests

Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Mountz were Mrs. Mountz's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd J. Sherwin of Massillon.

Homemakers Meet

Vernal Grove Homemakers club met Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. William Hoopes, R. D. 2, Salem.

The group spent the time sewing for the Salem City hospital and with a question bee. Mrs. Hoopes served lunch.

The club will meet with Mrs. Charles Hoopes, Salem, R. D. 2, in June.

Mr. and Mrs. Leland Holloway and children LeRoy and Betty of Salem were Saturday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Stanley.

Mr. and Mrs. Jasper Scott of Delroy who spent some time with Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cooper, have returned home.

Recent Guests

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Rhodes entertained at Sunday dinner for Mr. and Mrs. Al More and Mrs. Helen Andrews and Geraldine and Martin Mone of Cleveland. Little Martin Mone, a great nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Rhodes, will remain with them for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Rhodes' son, Corp. Warren Rhodes, is at Camp Jackson, N. C.

Mrs. Seth Jackson, returned Monday from a visit with her mother, Mrs. Charles Langborn at Broad-

REFUGEES HELD AT ELLIS ISLAND

TWO WOMEN REFUGEES are being held at Ellis Island, according to the department of justice, on charges of violation of the "trading with the enemy" act of 1917, in attempting to bring hidden messages into the U. S. The women were identified as Miss Mary Anna Delinikajtis, 30, left, and her sister, Mrs. Helen Braun, 24, natives of Pennsylvania who went to Poland as children. Custom agents found writing on cloth sewn under a coat lining after the two arrived on the exchange liner Gripsholm. (International Soundphoto) way, where she also visited her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. John Shirk of Broadway and her brother and husband, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Laughorn at Marion.

Winona Methodist

Sunday services at the Winona Methodist church are announced by the pastor, Jack Klein, as follows:

10 a. m., Church school; Mother's day service; recognition of mothers in charge of the Upstreamers class taught by Miss Josephine Dunn.

11 a. m., Morning worship; sermon by the pastor.

7 p. m., Youth fellowship.

Tuesday 7 p. m., Mother-daughter banquet; Mrs. T. Neil Jones of Tallmadge, traveler and lecturer, will speak.

Wednesday 7 p. m., Surgical dressings class; new workers are urged to help.

Thursday 7:30 p. m., Choir practice at the church.

Sunday, May 21 8 p. m., Second annual spring concert by the choir; program of sacred and secular music; benefit to purchase choir vestments.

Reduce Hog Prices
WASHINGTON, May 12.—The Office of Price Administration today reduced the ceiling price of live hogs weighing over 240 pounds by 75 cents a hundred pounds.
The move, effective May 15, was made to discourage the feeding of grain, especially corn, to heavyweight hogs and to encourage the marketing of hogs before they reach 240 pounds.

DRAFT STAYS

and, if they cannot meet them without dipping into the over-30 group or the necessary men of 26
through 29.

Now that broad policy has been outlined, informed sources said, national headquarters plans to restore all authority to the local boards.
These have become increasingly resistant as one new directive followed another from Washington in recent months.

Hershey was reported to have told State Selective Service directors at their meeting here this week that the draft board's morale was "at its lowest point." Some officials have voiced fear of a partial breakdown of the draft machinery through board resignations.

Army Reaches Peak
Hershey emphasized, at his news conference yesterday, that some men 30 or older might be drafted even while holding jobs in essential fields, if the local board felt they were not making their fullest contribution to the war.

The changes were made possible by the fact that draft calls for the rest of the year will run between 100,000 and 150,000 men a month.
Young men newly reaching 18 will amount 50,000 to 60,000 of the total, and the rest will be taken from "the youngest men available," Hershey said. Older men who are volunteers, draft delinquents or outside essential industry will make up the rest.

The Army already has reached peak strength, while the Navy was disclosed to be on May 1 only 200,- 000 men short of its peak strength of 2,600,000, which is to be reached by Sept. 1.

There was no easing of the rigid requirements now enforced for occupational deferments of men 18
through 25.

The new policies do not apply to farm workers, whose deferment is subject to provisions of the Tydings amendment and is governed by a separate set of regulations.

ENTITLED TO SALARY

CANTON, May 12.—Common Pleas
Judge George N. Graham yesterday ruled that former City Auditor Robert E. Beck was entitled to his salary of $3,000 for 1943, although he was in the army last year. The court ruled that since no action was taken to declare the office vacant Beck was entitled to the money.

the dance floor and "cock bar."
According to the drawings and layout for the third floor of the building, a dance floor will be centered in a room 40 by 50 feet, with tables surrounding it and a small band stand at the center of the east wall. Adjoining this large room in a lounge will be a "cock bar" at which members of the center may purchase soft drinks, ice cream and other refreshments.

The membership fee in the organization has not been set, but committees said it would be as low as possible so as to make the center available to all high school students.

Patterson emphasized that any funds raised inside the center will be used to better the accommodations there and not for any outside purpose. Eventually, after the project is functioning properly
Jaycees plan to turn the management of it over to the student themselves and act only in an advisory capacity.

The project, which has been under consideration for some time by the Junior Chamber, is a result of the recent move by the PTA to boost such a center in Salem. Jaycees members have traveled over this section of the state gathering information and suggestions from some six other cities now sponsoring similar affairs, Patterson said.

was made in Pennsylvania in 1859

Object To Curb Tenseness In Training Newly Blind Vet

(This is the second of two dispatches telling of the work being done at Valley Forge General Hospital, Phoenixville, Pa., to help the War Blind adjust themselves to living and working in a sightless world.)

By BETTY HEINEMAN
United Press Staff Correspondent

PHOENIXVILLE, Pa.—A blind young soldier sits tensely on the edge of his chair in the waiting room at Valley Forge General Hospital. His wife and baby are going to pay him his first visit since he was blinded.

Another soldier steps off a train miles away from the hospital on a furlough—also the first time his family has seen him since his injury.

Elimination of any emotional strain which ordinarily could be expected to be present at these "first" meetings is another angle of the army hospital's program of adjusting the blind soldier to himself and the world about him.

Through Red Cross and the aids at the hospital, families of blinded servicemen are "educated" as to how to receive a soldier, how to treat him as a normal person, able to look after himself in most circumstances, and how to help him unobtrusively when necessary.

Must 'Do for Himself'
The hospital knows that these first furloughs may make or break the entire training program, and as ex-Lieutenant Frey wryly explains, "our problem here isn't so much the education of the blind as it is the education of the sighted world."

If the family has observed the army's instructions on letting the soldier "do for himself," he'll come back ready to start on a period of more intensive training in learning to work and play through use of substitute senses.

For example, under the direction of braille instructor Louise M. Carter, a Wac from West Ridgewater, Minn., and other education and rehabilitation aids such as Rosalie P. Cohen, who is blind, and a former social worker for the State of New York—the patient is ready for "school." This includes braille, braille typing, physical education activities, games such as checkers and dominoes, and a social program including dancing.

"We do not teach them a life-work here," explained one of the instructors, "just let them find out what they think they'd like to do—and they change their minds as often as they please."

After the intermediate stage of training, the "seeing blind" veterans are encouraged to visit friends, go to house parties on week-end passes, attend football games, go roller-skating—and anything else which will give them contact with the sighted world, in which they are being taught to "maneuver."

Although few as yet have reached the stage of leaving the hospital for serious vocational work and training, the men are informed of the training available for them through the veterans bureau, and other national and state agencies for the blind. And to a man, they have plans for after the war.

As to the public attitude—the staff at Valley Forge has a bit of advice—if you come in contact with a blind veteran, assume he's able to do things for himself. He is.

Web Slings For Rifles Saves Army $2,000,000

WASHINGTON—The use of web slings for Army rifles has conserved a substantial amount of leather and saved the government $2,000,000 since last September, the War department announced. The slings which permit soldiers to carry rifles across their shoulders were made of leather until the Quartermaster Corps and Army Ordnance decided webbing could be used. Guns issued with leather slings were not recalled for replacement with webbing. But as the leather wears out web slings will be substituted. Almost all new rifles now have the fabric sling.

U. S. ARMY NURSES AWAIT INVASION

American Girls Overseas Eager to Follow Soldiers Into Europe

WITH THE U. S. ARMY NURSES IN BRITAIN—The first American women onto the Continent after the invasion beachhead is gained will be the U. S. Army nurses. "That's what I'm waiting for," said Second Lieut. Lilyan Emmons of Chicago and Marion L. Hemmesch of New Rockford, N. D.

Lilyan, a blue-eyed blonde, is attached to an evacuation hospital, intensively trained in tents to prepare for battle conditions. Marion, an attractive brunette in an Air Evacuation squadron, will fly in transport planes returning the wounded to U. S. Army hospitals in Britain.

Lessons learned in Bataan, in North Africa and in the Mediterranean have revised clothing and equipment for flying nurses and those on the ground for the Big Show.

Same Field Equipment
Except for firearms Lilyan will get the same field equipment—gas mask, helmet, musette bag, mess kit, pistol belt to which is attached canteen, first aid kit, flashlight—issued G. I. Joe.

Marion's flying nurses equipment is about the same as heavy bomber pilots'. It includes jacket, trousers and helmet of leather; "Mae West" life preserver, oxygen mask, heavy fleece lined boots and parachute. In the field both girls will sleep on cots minus sheets. They will wear slacks and leggings. Hospital duty will see them in brown and white seersucker. Instead of the traditional white. Bataan taught that white was too easy a target to see from the air, and the laundry problem is a nightmare up front. WACS, who will follow the nurses onto the continent, will have the same 50 pounds of equipment as the Army ground nurses.

Estimated average monthly consumption of meat in the United States for 1944 is 3 1/2 pounds, exactly the amount the average citizen ate in the period 1935-39.

War-Born Industrial Kingdom In West to Rival The East's

BY ROBERT E. GEIGER
AP Features Writer

DENVER—War has wrought a new industrial kingdom in the American west rivaling that of the eastern states, and possibly forecasting a revolution in post-war marketing patterns.

The west always has had the natural resources—iron, copper, oil, coal and a dozen other resources upon which factories feed. Just as important, it now has the world's two greatest hydro-electric plants, Boulder Dam and Grand Coulee, and a dozen smaller ones.

The Pacific Coast states alone—California, Oregon, Washington and Arizona, produce two-fifths of all U. S. lumber; two-fifths of all U. S. gold; one-third of U. S. copper; one-sixth of U. S. petroleum; one-sixth of U. S. natural gas; one-seventh of U. S. silver and two-fifths of the U. S. fish catch.

But the west has lacked capital and vast, working populations. Therefore it had to buy manufactured goods from the industrialized east.

Industrial Revolution

War was a magnet which drew billions of dollars and thousands of people to the west.

In three years the war brought in more manufacturing plants and skyrocketed production higher than peace could have achieved in two decades. The Pacific coast states alone are producing 14.5 per cent of all U. S. war production.

There are airplane factories; ship-building yards; steel mills, and whole new light metals business, and many other activities.

For months, after 1940, 1,000 people each day migrated westward. The Pacific coast gained more population than any other U. S. area.

"This is the combination of elements—raw materials, population, cheap electricity, industrial plants—the west has needed to touch off its industrial skyrocket," say the fascinated manpower and trade experts.

"This new surge of empire may be slowed but it won't be halted by America's industrial traditionalists. The peace time markets will be waiting, in Alaska, South America, Hawaii, the Philippines and Asia as well as west of the Mississippi.

"Millions of people! One step upward in their scale of living will swamp the west coast with market orders."

The Post-War Market

When peace comes, the west will struggle to hold a top rung of the industrial ladder. Billions will be spent on reclamation and hydro-electricity. In the Columbia river basin, alone, one-half billion is earmarked for Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Montana and Wyoming.

"Eastern interests, as always, will continue to oppose heavy industry in the west," says Federal Judge Homer T. Bone of Washington.

"Since finances must to a large extent be obtained in the east, this opposition is serious. However, the development on the west coast of such enormous industries as Boeing indicates what can be done.

"President Roosevelt has indicated his desire to build up the west by encouraging development of heavy industries. We can look for support from this powerful source."

Wendell Willkie, before he withdrew as a presidential candidate, also recognized the new giant of the west. Westerners will learn the attitudes of both parties and their candidates on this question before the next election.

A Second Gold Rush

The "second gold rush" hasn't been as spectacular as the first, because it's spread over an area from Canada to Mexico.

In 1939 only 4.5 per cent of Los Angeles' citizens made their living from manufacturing. Today Los Angeles' industrial wage earners have tripled—equal to those of pre-war Detroit.

In Texas, the War Production Board reported, almost six billions have been spent, since the fall of France, on industrial development.

"Today, one-third of our total labor is employed in manufacturing industries compared with one-sixth four years ago," says Gov. Earl Warren of California.

Growth of the northwest has been spectacular. A new aluminum in-

BEING LIMITED TO ONLY TWO SEASONS—one wet, the other rainy—Guadalcanal might not appeal at times to finicky tourists, but the Pacific island is a fine old battleground to the Marines, who take it wet or wetter without a thought of the "dew." dusty has arisen, besides giant shipbuilding, aircraft, magnesium, chemical and alloy plants.

In the Portland area industrial employment jumped from 20,000 in 1940 to approximately 160,000 in 1943, not counting another 30,000 that has been added, since then, in one plant. Seattle gained 325 per cent in industrial employment.

A giant new $190,000,000 steel mill was constructed in Utah; there are arms plants in Colorado and Utah; new iron and aluminum plants in Wyoming; the largest food dehydrating plant in the world is in Idaho; a helium plant has been constructed in New Mexico.

In Region Eight of the War Manpower commission—Nebraska, Iowa, Minnesota, North and South Dakota—70 major projects have been

IT'S JUST A LITTLE WETTER THAN USUAL

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"Glad you dropped in, Judge. I was just trying to explain to Mary what you told us down at lodge last night... about all the grain used to distill war-alcohol not really being used up. She didn't realize it, either."

"It's true, Mary. Wherever the government has permitted distillers to purchase the equipment necessary to reprocess the used grain, at least 50% of the feed value (25% by weight) of the whole grain is being recovered and returned to farms like yours in the form of premium-quality livestock feed. Only the starch is removed during distilling... the part recovered is a highly-prized concentrate containing valuable proteins, fats and carbohydrates. The distilling industry really has taken a leading part in the development of new cattle and poultry feed products from reprocessed grain... products rich in vitamins B<sub>1</sub> and B<sub>2</sub>... so essential to satisfactory growth and production. And the recovery of grain will apply also to the making of whiskey when production is resumed."

Floating Postmen Greet Freighters For Fifty Years

AP Features

DETROIT—A cinch for top rank in any popularity poll with Great Lakes' seamen is Detroit's floating postoffice which early this month inaugurated its 50th year of mid-river deliveries to inter-lake freighters.

The trim, Diesel-powered O. H. Mook fourth in a line of mailboats, is the only maritime post-office maintained by the U. S. government. Last year in a 248-day season, it handled a record 2,263,109 pieces of mail, 48 times the volume of the first year's operation in 1895.

At the outset, transfer of mail with lake steamers was accomplished by a three-man carrier crew, taking turns in a rowboat and exchanging letters in a bucket lowered from the passing freighters.

Today expert pilots swing the 65-foot Mook alongside a steamer as it churns along. Transfer of letters, parcels, money orders and postal savings is accomplished in seconds and the Mook is away too great another oil tanker, ore or grain carrier. Last year the Mook, in its eighth season of service made 21,344 such contacts.

The bucket remains the means of exchange, however, but the floating postmen can't remember the last time a load went into the water.

Mail delivered to the River station eight times a day by truck is sorted below deck.

River traffic ordinarily is well spaced but the floating postmen must move nimbly when clearing weather frees a "fog fleet." Veterans recall those busy days, when mail was exchanged with "21 vessels in 25 minutes" or "17 boats in 21 minutes."

Salem Chinas Loom As Serious Threat For Softball Title

Pitcher Dale Ritchie Adds Impressiveness To Already Strong Class A Aggregation

Looming as one of the most likely squads to take the Class A softball title away from the Championship Recreation team, by virtue of the impressive roster announced last night, the Salem Chinas, with unbeatable Dale Ritchie as their hurler, are making serious plans to cop city honors this season.

Weighing heavily in the Chinas favor is the signing of Ritchie, former Bliss pitcher who chalked up at least three no-hit games last season and pitched his squad into the city playoffs. His hurling abilities give the China squad a definite edge over the other five teams in the league.

Not the least of the impressiveness of this potent aggregation is the capable infield and outfield lined up by Manager John Ehrhart who has secured the services of several members of the runnersup Bliss squad from last season and has combined with them the best of his 1943 China team.

Others On Squad

At third base will be Harry Ehrhart, who filled that spot last season on the China team. At short is another ex-China man, Russ Morrison, and he will be assisted at second by John Del Favero, an other capable veteran. Fred Reese, first sacker for Bliss last year, will take over the same job on the China team next week.

Behind the plate to handle the offerings of Ritchie will be Bruce Cope, who did a good job in 1943 for the China. Roving shortstop will be Razor Eddie, with Mumaw, former Bliss fly chaser, Jim Nocera, also of Bliss last year, Iren Manis, a new recruit and Bill Stark slated for outfield assignments.

Manager Ehrhart also has Ralph "Giddy" Griffith lined up for duty as a utility man and he expects to get in a little playing himself.

At the plate the China team lines up to be one of the most powerful on the field one of the surest aggregations and considerations of their battery place them on the top in that classification.

SPORT CHATTER

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.
NEW YORK, May 12—Overseas sports roundup:

ICELAND

From Lieut. Dave Zinkoff comes the first report of the G. I.-sponsored Icelandic boxing championships, May 3. Soldiers, who have been building up boxing there, lent the natives the Andrews Memorial field house for the big show and some 2,000 Icelanders jammed the aisles. . . . Gudmundur Arason gave a fine exhibition in winning the heavyweight title from Kristbjorn Thorarinnsson, says Zink. "But most amazing was the way in which some heft Icelandic would yell 'knuk heem out!' and the crowd caught this phrase and added the crescendo until the ear-drums took a beating."

PACIFIC AREA

When Gen. Douglas MacArthur learned the baseball used to open the Syracuse Chiefs' season in MacArthur stadium was being sent to him, he replied wishing the chiefs many home runs to "come when you need them."

When Tech. Sgt. Billy Goodrich of the Marines, former Brooklyn sports scribe, polled a Marine aviation unit on baseball's probable pennant winners, only 15 per cent picked Billy's Dodgers to win and 40 per cent chose the Cardinals. The Yankees, Senators and Indians ran about even in the American league.

ENGLAND

Note from Ex-statistician Don Schiffer: "Our baseball team lost two regulars from last season's sectional champs and acquired four new men, including Whitey Hilcher, who served time for the Reds in the 30's. . . . Now 35, Hilcher is coaching at first base, hitting fungoes, working on the pitchers. He won't throw any until the weather warms considerably, having stayed in the coast league for the past eight or nine years."

JAPAN

Gil Radvill, former Penn State football star, managed to retain his sense of humor (and probably not much else) when he fell into Jap hands in the Philippines. . . . On one of those farm postcards from a prison camp, written to a girl friend at State college, Gil typed the last line: "Give my regards to all the kids from school, and also all my creditors."

NEW YORK, May 12—Boxing at Madison Square Garden, interrupted by the circus' long stand, returns May 26, when Lee Savold of Paterson, N. J., and Joe Baksi of Kulpmont, Pa., heavyweights, clash in a 10-rounder.

Named Miami Coach

OXFORD, May 12—Sidney Gillman, a former Ohio State university football player, has been appointed football coach at Miami university for the duration. He succeeds Stuart Holcomb, now in the army.

Cincinnati used Outfielder Estel Crabtree in 95 games last season. It was the most action he had seen since 1939 when he played 133 games for Rochester and batted .337.

Rip Sewell of the Pirates, whose main boast is that his "blooper ball" doesn't travel far when hit, parted with only six homers in 165 innings last season.

QUAKERS TRY FOR COUNTY TITLE AT PALESTINE TODAY

County Records As Good As Most In This Part Of State

Plenty of records difficult to break will be at stake in the Columbiana county track and field meet tonight when Salem, East Liverpool and East Palestine vie for honors on the East Palestine oval.

County records, compiled in past years, are just about as creditable a group of marks as can be found in this part of the state.

Coach Fred Cope plans to take his full team to the county meet and from all indications the Quaker aggregation should win the championship. However, a few surprising combinations and second and third places might make things difficult for the Salem squad.

East Liverpool will go into the meet smarting from a sound trouncing delivered Tuesday by Rib Allen's Boardman Trojans. In the dual affair, which was held in the Pottery city, the Ceramics landed just one first place, the mile relay.

Records Are Shown

This comparison should give the Quakers a definite edge over the East Liverpool representatives as Salem defeated Boardman by about 30 points in a dual affair.

County records follow:

100 yard dash—Time 10 seconds—Gaines of Columbiana in 1918.

Pole vault—Height 12 feet 8 inches—Allen of Salem in 1928.

Shot put—Distance 48 feet 2 inches—Russell of Salem in 1933.

Mile run—Time 4 minutes 32 seconds—Wagonhouse of Leetonia in 1931.

440 yard dash—Time 52 seconds—Gaines of Columbiana in 1920.

High jump—Height 6 feet 1 inch—Lutch of Salem in 1937.

120 yard high hurdles—Time 15.4 seconds—Switzer of East Palestine in 1936.

220 yard dash—Time 22 seconds—Gaines of Columbiana in 1919.

Discus throw—Distance (old weight 4 lbs. 6 oz.) 127 feet 7 inches—Smith of Salem in 1931.

Percentage Quirk, Errors by St. Louis Browns Put N. Y. Yankees On Top In American Loop

Associated Press Sports Writer

Joe McCarthy today had his 1944 New York Yankees leading the American league for the first time, but it took a weird night fielding display by the St. Louis Browns and a peculiar quirk of the percentage tables to do the trick.

Although the Browns held a half game edge in games won and lost, the payoff column in the standings shows the New Yorkers with 667 and St. Louis with 650.

Hank Borowy pitched the Yankees into the lead although he didn't know it until he read the morning paper accounts of Washington's 4-2 decision over the Browns.

When Borowy turned back Detroit with seven hits in the afternoon for a 5-2 decision, he was stretching his two-season win streak to 11 and upping his 1944 record to 4-0.

Lefty Mickey Heafner's seven-hit night effort against St. Louis topped Luke Sewell's men off their perch but four costly errors, including two by Catcher Joe Schultz, were equally disastrous. Jack Kramer's five-game win streak was lost in the wreckage.

Hal Tresky, the comeback kid, stole home in the 16th inning on Russ Christopher of the A's as Chicago grabbed a 4-2 verdict. Mike Tresh then doubled home Ralph Hodgins with a superfluous score.

Dead Horse Brings $800 At Beulah Park

COLUMBUS, May 12—A dead horse brought $800 at Beulah park yesterday.

Frank Wood, a Wilkinson, Ind., horseman, claimed Dinsen from Mrs. G. H. Pearce of Baltimore, Md., out of the eighth race. Dinsen was a 4-to-5 favorite as the horses paraded to the post.

Going into the back stretch, Dinsen was in the lead when his left foreleg snapped. He was destroyed later.

Racing rules governing claiming races gave Mrs. Pearce the $800 and Wood the horse.

Percentage Quirk, Errors by St. Louis Browns Put N. Y. Yankees On Top In American Loop

Associated Press Sports Writer

Joe McCarthy today had his 1944 New York Yankees leading the American league for the first time, but it took a weird night fielding display by the St. Louis Browns and a peculiar quirk of the percentage tables to do the trick.

Although the Browns held a half game edge in games won and lost, the payoff column in the standings shows the New Yorkers with 667 and St. Louis with 650.

Hank Borowy pitched the Yankees into the lead although he didn't know it until he read the morning paper accounts of Washington's 4-2 decision over the Browns.

When Borowy turned back Detroit with seven hits in the afternoon for a 5-2 decision, he was stretching his two-season win streak to 11 and upping his 1944 record to 4-0.

Lefty Mickey Heafner's seven-hit night effort against St. Louis topped Luke Sewell's men off their perch but four costly errors, including two by Catcher Joe Schultz, were equally disastrous. Jack Kramer's five-game win streak was lost in the wreckage.

Hal Tresky, the comeback kid, stole home in the 16th inning on Russ Christopher of the A's as Chicago grabbed a 4-2 verdict. Mike Tresh then doubled home Ralph Hodgins with a superfluous score.

ODDS GIVE DERBY WINNER THE EDGE IN PREAKNESS RUN

Pensive Rated Best In 2 to 1 Betting; Field of Seven Seen

By DONALD SANDERS

BALTIMORE, May 12.—If tradition means anything, Warren Wright's Pensive has a 50-50 chance to win tomorrow's 54th running of the Preakness stakes.

Sixteen Kentucky Derby winners have started in Maryland's premier race, and eight of them have won it. Six of the eight have been good enough to take the Belmont as well, completing the triple crown.

Pensive, on the basis of his stretch-charging victory at Churchill Downs, shaped up today as just about a two-to-one public choice to win a second Preakness for his Chicago owner and trainer, Ben Jones.

A field of seven was expected to start in the mile and three-sixteenths contest for a $50,000-added purse.

Hirsch Jacobs claimed the honor of formally entering the first horse yesterday when he telephoned from New York the entry of his wife's Stymie, one of the two geldings expected to parade postward.

Stymie was the last of the seven to arrive, not being shipped from New York until this morning.

Indications were that the weather would be ideal, and officials anticipated a crowd of 35,000 or more. A new wagering record was almost inevitable, as the $1,238,502 mark set last year when Count Fleet romped away from three other

One record likely to survive the day is the time standard for the stake set in 1942 by Alsab, when he covered the distance in 1:57.

Don't look for a homer when Max Lanier, Cards' southpaw, is pitching. Lanier allowed only three homers in 213 innings during 1943.

A Model is Murdered ~ BABS LEE

CHAPTER NINE
"I just ate breakfast," Argus said, "but I could be talked into a martini."
"Before sundown, Argus? I'm ashamed of you!" exclaimed Ellen.
"Well, it's sundown in some places on the globe," drawled Argus. "It just depends on what time you go by. Personally, I'm on Chinese Eastern Standard."
"Oh, I forgot," said Ellen. "I have a 12:30 appointment. Could I take a rain check on that invitation?"
"Sure," Flagg agreed. "Any time. But come back here before you leave."

Ellen and Argus left the office. She led the way to a large room with wide windows. Four girls were sitting behind one desk. The desk had ten telephones on it.
"Those are the girls who make the appointments for us," Ellen explained. "When a photographer calls up and asks for Miss So-and-so, the girls write on the model's chart the hour of the appointment and what clothes she's to bring. Then they notify the model herself. Each girl has her own chart with her name on it. You can see them hanging on that wall behind them." The girls at the desk seemed to be answering two phones at once. One of them beckoned to Ellen. She walked over to the desk.
"Don't forget you've got a fashion show at four this afternoon at the Park Hotel," she reminded her. "And bring along evening shoes and spectator sports."

"Thanks," said Ellen. She took a little book out of her purse. It had her name on the cover. Inside was a memorandum pad with every quarter hour marked on it from morning until night. She flipped over a couple of pages and made a notation.

"Where is Syria's chart?" Argus asked. "Have they taken it down yet?"

"Let's see," Ellen looked under the Vs. "No, there it is. Gosh, she had a busy schedule today! She had four appointments. One of them was with Pierre Sturges. She certainly did a lot of work for him."

Some models drifted in to check up on their appointments. One of them was a tall, broad-shouldered young man with collar-ad features. "Hello, Tom! How's tricks?" was Ellen's greeting.

"Okay!" said Tom. "How goes it with you?" Ellen replied with another affirmative cliché and the conversation ended. She returned to Argus.

"Looks as though I have some real competition there," he said. "That's a good-looking boy."
Ellen laughed. "They're scintillating conversationalists," she said. "The guy repartee you just heard was typical. What these boys are interested in mainly is getting in the movies. I'll show you the book now."

"The book?" Argus queried.
"Yes, Mr. Flagg put out a book with all his models' pictures in it and gives it to the advertisers and photographers." The book—really a models' catalogue—was several inches thick. There must have been about four hundred photographs in it. Under each were the models' measurements and general description.

Argus turned several pages thoughtfully as he gazed at the glamour girls that graced them. Full face and profile views were shown. Most of the girls were in fashion poses, although some appeared in bathing suits and underthings. He thumbed through the book until he came to the page with Syria's picture on it. One was a reproduction of a magazine cover; another revealed her voluptuous figure clad in bra and shorts.

"I can only find one telephone number under all these pictures," Argus observed, disappointedly.
"Naturally, my gay Lothario! It's the office number. You didn't expect to find their home phones and addresses, did you?"

"Well—I had hoped—" Argus confessed.
"Those numbers are never given out."

"Looks as though there's a lot of competition in this business," Argus said. "How do these girls get their start?"

"They register with Mr. Flagg and have some pictures of the commercial type made. Then they spend weeks wearing out shoe leather, taking them to photographers, advertising agencies and so on."

"What I'd like to know is what the models carry around in those hatboxes. I'm always running into them in the midtown section. Do they change headgear in mid-stream?"

"Sometimes," said Ellen, "but usually they contain changes of clothes—shoes, hosiery, bathing suits, evening dresses or whatever the job may call for. That's the most expensive outlay for a model. Clothes and hairdressing bills. They have to have spring hats in January and winter hats in July. Fur coats and suits are photographed in the good old summer time and bathing suits in the winter. Fashion is always six months ahead of itself."

Oklahoma Wheat Crop May Double 1943 Yield

OKLAHOMA CITY—Oklahoma's wheat crop apparently will be nearly double last year's production, Joe C. Scott, president of the state board of agriculture, has announced.
The 1944 yield was estimated at 59,814,000 bushels on an acreage of 4,566,000. Last year's acreage was 3,338,000.

The late March freeze reduced the state's fruit crop 71 per cent, Scott said.

Industrial accidents last year took the lives of 18,400 American workers, according to the U. S. Department of Labor.

Wedding Rings

WITH the bridal month of June approaching, a photo of pretty Rosemary Bertrand of N. Y. C. displaying replicas of famous wedding bands is most appropriate. The collection includes the early Grecian ring (second from left) worn in 1600 B.C. and the ancient Hebrew ring (right), the oldest wedding band known. (International)

In protecting shipping off American coasts the Coast Guard maintains over 50,000 aids to navigation, including 500 lighthouse plus lightships, buoys, radio beacons and fog signals.

Offhand Remark Leads To Device For Injured

CHICAGO — The thoughtless remark made by a physician in Indianapolis has led to invention of a device which may prove of inestimable help to disabled veterans of this war, according to the Journal of the American Medical Association.

Dr. John R. Brayton, writing to the editor, discloses how he told a one-armed patient to wash his hand. The patient replied, "I can't."

As a result, Dr. Brayton has offered to manufacturers a simple device consisting of two vacuum cups fastened to the back of a brush. The one-armed person fastens the brush above any washstand and washes by rubbing his hand back and fourth on it.

While prospecting for oil seeps in the Point Barrow area recently, geologists found a herd of wild caribou which had been trapped in a lake of asphalt and, unable to get free, had starved. The Eskimos in this area cut the oil-soaked tundra moss into blocks and use it for fuel during the winter months.
